

AN ADAPTIVE, 2-RANDOMISATION, CONTROLLED TRIAL TO DEFINE THE ROLE OF PASTEURISED DONOR MILK, PRETERM FORMULA, AND FORTIFIER IN EXTREMELY PRETERM CARE

THE CHALLENGE:

Every year, 3,000 extremely preterm babies in the UK face the risk of necrotising enterocolitis (NEC), a life-threatening gut condition. Whether pasteurised donor milk, preterm formula, and bovine fortifier, as used in neonatal care, affect severe NEC, neurodevelopment and other outcomes, is not known

THE MISSION

COLLABORATE aims to resolve these pressing and important uncertainties in an innovative, efficient, adaptive, 2-randomisation trial using state-of-the-art methods

WHY IT MATTERS

Clinicians want answers; our patients deserve evidence-based care
