Programme Overview

The MSc in Strategic Marketing is offered over 24 months. It is a part-time programme that transforms ambitious professionals into responsible business leaders with a deep understanding of marketing from a strategic perspective. Drawing on world-class faculty and thought- leaders, the programme provides a uniquely "Imperial College view" of marketing, i.e., one where marketing fundamentals intersect with the latest thinking and tools in strategy, technology and innovation, and where marketing science is blended with managerial insights, ethical thinking and data-driven decision making. The programme will equip you with the strategies, cutting edge thought leadership, and tools to develop solutions to real-world business challenges through online lectures, live sessions, workshops, practical activities, interaction with students around the world, and expert talks.

The programme comprises nine compulsory modules which are taught across the first year and the first term of the second year. You will also choose six electives from a range of topics offered from the summer of the first year through to the spring term of the second year. The programme culminates in a work-based project or case study and Applied Strategic Marketing Report (ASMR). Alternatively, individuals wishing to move on to doctoral work may take a conventional MSc project (Individual Research Report) in lieu of the Work-Based Project/Case Study and ASMR. It may be possible for projects to be carried out partly or wholly at an external organisation and requests will be considered on a case by case basis.

Before you start the programme, you need to complete on-line interactive primers in Maths, Accounting, Data Analysis, Study Skills, Marketing Fundamentals and Plagiarism Awareness.

At Imperial, each ECTS credit taken equates to an expected total study time of 25 hours. Therefore, the expected total study time is 2250 hours per year.

Depending on the elective modules selected, you may spend approximately 20% of your total study hours on lectures, seminars and similar, and around 80% of your time on independent study.

Assessment Strategy

Assessment Methods

Modules will be assessed by one or more of the following types of assessment methods:

- Essays
- Continuous assessments
- Written Examinations/Tests
- Multiple Choice Tests
- Formal Presentations
- Reports
- Case Studies
- Class Participation

Assessed modules comprise coursework that is designed to help you master key elements of the subject and, in part, to help prepare you for the final assessment, which is typically a report or examination. Examinations are scheduled throughout the year, generally at the end of the term the module is taught or at the start of the subsequent term. Exact timings are detailed in the programme overview section above. The format of examinations may be written, computer-based or timed remote assessment.

Coursework weighting varies among modules. The various assessments allow you to demonstrate that you have met the intended learning outcomes for each module and these collectively contribute towards your achievement of the programme's learning outcomes, detailed above.

Assessments are designed to ensure that you have acquired the core knowledge and skills expected of a Business School graduate and that you are able to apply these in your career aspirations upon completion of the programme.

Academic Feedback Policy

Feedback can take many forms. During lectures and classes, you will receive verbal feedback on the ideas that you contribute to discussions and on in-class presentations. The online teaching materials contain exercises with built-in, immediate, feedback that is received when you submit an answer.

The School aims to provide feedback on coursework within two weeks. This will be sent in written form to the individual or the group, as appropriate. Academic staff may also provide verbal feedback of a general nature in class or posted to our virtual learning environment. Office hours offered on all modules also provide an opportunity for individual feedback.

The School aims to provide provisional examination grades 25 days from the end of the exam period. General feedback to the cohort is provided on examination performance, usually in written form. If you need to resit an examination, you may also approach the module leader for feedback on your performance in the first sitting.

You will be provided with a percentage grade for coursework and examinations with the final numerical mark only confirmed after the Board of Examiners Meeting and then released by Registry. Grades received during the year are deemed provisional until confirmed by the Final Board of Examiners.

¹ Core modules are those which serve a fundamental role within the curriculum, and for which achievement of the credits for that module is essential for the achievement of the target award. Core modules must therefore be taken and passed in order to achieve that named award. Compulsory modules are those which are designated as necessary to be taken as part of the programme syllabus. Compulsory modules can be compensated. Elective modules are those which are in the same subject area as the field of study and are offered to students in order to offer an element of choice in the curriculum and from which students are able to select. Elective modules can be compensated.

 $^{^2} Group' \ refers \ to \ module \ grouping \ (e.g. \ a \ group \ of \ electives \ from \ which \ three \ module(s) \ must \ be \ chosen)$

³The Work Based Project and exchange partner module are graded pass/fail and are zero weighted. If passed, the ECTS gained will count towards those required to achieve the target award, but performance in these module(s) will not further affect the degree classification.
